DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This action is in response to the communication filed on November 30, 2006.
2. Claims 1, 5-11, 14-18 are pending in this action. Claims 1, 7, 10, 11, 15 and 18 have been amended. Claims 2-4, 12 and 13 have been canceled.
3. The applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 5-11 and 14-18 have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive. For examiner's response to the applicant's arguments or comments, see the detailed discussion in the Response to the Arguments section.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1, 5, 6, 8-11, 14 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sabourin (US 6,108,627).

As per claim 1, Sabourin teaches, "a method for speech synthesis by a grapheme/phoneme conversion", comprising:

"searching for subwords of a given word in a database which contains phonetic transcriptions of words, the given word having a subword registered in the database, and a further constituent which is not registered in the database" (Fig. 4, elements 401,

402, 403 as “subword registered in a database” and element 406 “subword not registered in a database”;

“selecting a phonetic transcription from the database for the subword” (Fig. 4, element “transcription”);

“phonetically transcribing the further constituent of the given word with the aid of an out-of-vocabulary (OOV) treatment, the out-of-vocabulary (OOV) treatment for phonetic transcription of the further constituent is performed based on phonetic context as a function of the phonetic transcription of the subword” (Fig. 5); and

“combining the phonetic transcription of the subword and the phonetic transcription of the further constituent” (Fig. 5)

“wherein the given word has at least first and second subwords registered in the database, a search is made for both the first and second subwords in the database, a phonetic transcription is selected from the database for both the first and second subwords, and the phonetic transcription of the first and second subwords and the phonetic transcription of the further constituent are combined” (Fig. 4),

“the further constituent in the given word is arranged between the first subword and the second subword, and the out-of-vocabulary (OOV) treatment for phonetic transcription of the further constituent is performed as a function of the phonetic transcription of the first subword and the phonetic transcription of the second subword” (Fig. 4).

As per claim 5, Sabourin teaches, "wherein the searching for subwords in the database is performed by searching for subwords which have a prescribed minimum length" (col. 4, lines 38-62).

As per claim 6, Sabourin teaches, "wherein if a plurality of subwords are found for the same word part, the longest subword is selected therefrom" (col. 13, lines 36-45).

As per claim 8, Sabourin teaches, "wherein the out-of-vocabulary (OOV) treatment for phonetic transcription of the further constituent is performed by a rule-based method" (Fig. 4, element 406).

As per claim 9, Sabourin teaches, "wherein the subword is found in a first database, and the out-of-vocabulary (OOV) treatment for phonetic transcription of the further constituent is performed by a second database which contains the phonetic transcription of filling particles normally used in the case of composite words" (Fig. 4).

As per claim 10, 11, 14 and 18, they are interpreted and thus rejected for the same reasons set forth in the rejection of claims 1, 5, 6, 8 and 9.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 7 and 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sabourin (US 6,108,627) as applied to claims 1 and 14 above, and further in view of Karaali et al. (US 5,913,194).

As per claims 7 and 15, Lin does not explicitly teach, phonetic transcription further performed by a neuron network. However, Karaali teaches, phonetic transcription performed by a neuron network (Abstract). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use neural network because Karaali teaches his invention reduce size of the neural network without substantial degradation in the quality of the generated synthetic speech (col. 2, lines 8-12).

As per claim 16, Sabourin teaches, "wherein the out-of-vocabulary (OOV) treatment for phonetic transcription of the further constituent is performed by a rule-based method" (Fig. 4, element 406).

As per claim 17, Sabourin teaches, "wherein the subwords are found in a first database, and the out-of-vocabulary treatment for phonetic transcription of the further constituent is performed by a second database which contains the phonetic transcription of filling particles used in the case of composite words" (Fig. 4).

Response to Arguments

8. The applicant argues, "it appears that each handler of Sabourin either transcribes the whole word or transcribes nothing. Therefore, a combination of first and second subwords and a further constituent is not suggested by Sabourin. Additionally, the subwords generated by different handlers are not routed back to any handler. See the flowchart of FIG. 4 and column 6, line 28 through column 7, line 14. In Sabourin, there is no out-of-vocabulary (OOV) treatment of the further constituent as a function of the phonetic transcription of first and second subwords, as claimed. Because Sabourin does not disclose or suggest the limitations of the independent claims, it is submitted that the claims patentably distinguish over this reference".

The examiner disagrees with the applicant's above assertion because Sabourin teaches combination of first and second subwords and further constituent at Fig. 4 and column 6 line 28 through column 7, line 14, an example is given by Sabourin "admission" also see table IV.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
